To Strengthen Home Defense

London.—The war office has called for 18-year-old volunteers to strengthen the home defence forces against the possibility of invasion.

It asked for volunteers from '9 to 1940 years to form additional companies for some home defence battalions for special duties in this country.

The home defence battalions are distinct from "paratroopers", who are in the past time army.
Recruits will be required to enlist for general service for the duration of the war. When they reach the age of 20 they will be transferred to training units for service in the field army.

The youngest age for compulsory service at present is 20.

Searle Precipitation Report No. Five

(Compiled from the records of 559 Government and Searle Rain Gauges)

The moisture condition for the three prairie provinces, as a whole, shows a slight improvement over last week. Adding together the rains which fell last fall during the months of August, September and October, and the precipitation which has occurred from April last to May 20th, inclusive, the moisture situation today is 76 per cent. of normal, as compared with 74 per cent. at this time last year, and 90 per cent. at this time a year ago. Saskatchewan and Manitoba have somewhat improved and Alberta has gone back slightly.

For Alberta the moisture condition is now 95 per cent. of normal, as compared with 100 per cent. last week and 90 per cent. at this time a year ago.

For Saskatchewan the moisture condition is now 60 per cent., as compared with 57 per cent. last week and 105 per cent. at this time a year ago.

For Manitoba the moisture condition is now 88 per cent., as compared with 91 per cent. last week and 60 per cent. at this time a year ago.

The whole of Alberta is excellent with the exception of a small area in the east-central region, which has declined to fair only.

Northern and east-central Saskatchewan and north-western Manitoba still badly lack sufficient moisture.

July 1st Celebration Plans Underway

"Third time lucky." On Monday evening last a citizens' meeting, the third called in connection with the July 1st celebration, was fairly well attended and as a result decision was taken to hold a sports day this year on July 1st, and to devote all net proceeds to war charities. In addition, it is expected that certain patriotic organizations will secure concessions at the grounds, with a view to boosting their funds.

A previous meeting, on Wednesday, May 23, had already gone on record as favoring holding of the event this year, of using the balance on hand as a guarantee only against a deficit, and of devoting the net proceeds to war charities. Therefore, when the mayor called Monday's meeting to order, the chief business on hand was the election of the committee to carry on the organization work and put the annual "birthday party" over the top.

A complete new slate of officers and committeemen will be in charge this year and, judging by the energy with which they tackled the problem at their first meeting, immediately following adjournment of the public gathering, Wainwright is on its way to a new high in July 1st entertainment. Here are the citizens who are undertaking the work of organizing the celebration this year:

General chairman: Mr. C. T. Lally.
Secretary: Mr. W. J. Watson.
Finance committee: Mr. H. U. Taylor.

Sports committee: Mr. K. T. Torg.
Grounds committee: Messrs. H. Schilt and J. Robinson.

Entertainment committee: Messrs. G. Glass and C. T. Lally.
Children's committee: Mrs. F. E. McLeod and Mr. O. Murray.

These committees have been promised the active support of last year's committeemen, and they should be given wholehearted support of every citizen in their endeavors to make the annual Wainwright Birthday Party "bigger and better" than ever.

Red Cross Supplies Urgently Needed

For the information of all Red Cross workers, the Alberta Division has received an urgent wire from National Headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross Society, stating that surgical dressings, bandages, gloves, towels, pyjamas, sheets, pillow cases and refugee clothing are urgently needed.

All groups are asked to send to Divisional Headquarters every completed garment they have at once, as at present they are shipping nothing.
National headquarters advise that there are a great number of refugees flocking into France, the French Red Cross Society has tremendous need for blankets. They inform us that there are only a comparatively small number of blankets purchasable in Canada. They propose making a national appeal for the receiving by each branch throughout Canada, of good blankets for overseas use.

Donations of new blankets will be very acceptable, but if branches receive second-hand blankets they must be washed and clean before shipping to divisional headquarters.

Will branches please make every effort to collect as many blankets as possible in their respective districts and forward same to Divisional Headquarters immediately for shipment overseas.

(Sgd.) D. H. TOMLINSON,
Commissioner.

Rich Girl, Poor Boy, Love Story

Irene Dunne, Fred MacMurray, Charlie Ruggles and William Collier Sr., contribute standout performances to this mature, well rounded and soundly conceived love story, "Invitation to Happiness." It is a little actor's triumph aimed at the more informed and intelligent type of audience but containing, for any and all, a heavy-weight boxing bout that packs a wallop.

The story is a finely wrought account of a romance between a young woman of wealthy background and a pugilist born on the other side of the tracks. The picture opens in 1927 and closes a decade later. What time and the circumstances of their relationship do to the couple is told simply, clearly and entertainingly.

Miss Dunne's portrayal of the wife is excellent, and Mr. MacMurray's performance of the pugilist is his best to date, in this week end picture at the Elite Theatre.

R.A.F. Officer Inspects Trenton Base

Air Vice-Marshal L. D. D. McKean, chief liaison officer for the British Air Force mission, assisting in development of the Empire Air Force training scheme in Canada, paid his first visit to the R.C.A.F. base at Trenton, where he inspected all

Mystery Man At Theatre This Week

Monday night saw a large number of theatre-goers thoroughly mystified at the added attraction in which "Mem-o-ram" (the man of mystery) after a short resume of his sensational adventures which had all proved true, described the future of quite a number of patrons present. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights also, this feature is being continued, and at no extra charge, and readers should go prepared to ask Professor Glavestone questions on any problems with which they are worried.

It is enthralling, mystifying and yet scientific, for despite the fact that the professor is unfortunately blind (and therefore cannot see his questioners or know them) the answers given his clients on Monday night were concise, truthful and satisfying to a truly remarkable degree. By all means arrange to attend this feature at the Elite.

Help Yourselves By Helping Canada

Ottawa.—Full co-operation of leaders from every walk of life in Canada is at the disposal of the government in promoting the sale of War Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps which went on sale in every city, town and hamlet across the country on Monday.

Walter H. Somerville and M. de Gaspe Beaulieu, joint chairmen of the National War Savings Committee, are being aided by a National Advisory Panel which includes labor leaders, heads of important women's organizations, representatives of the Civil Service, agriculture, the press, and key men from chain stores, banks, security dealers, trust and loan companies, the post office, insurance companies, and other business institutions which have undertaken to sell War Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps.

As an indication of the nature of the support which is being accorded the National Chairman by the business community, it is pointed out that one industry alone has placed at the disposal of the government a highly skilled sales force of over 600 men. Other firms which will be handling War Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps have already called their key salesmen to inform them of the nature and purpose of this nation-wide program.

With such an organization now operating at full pressure, the National Committee is confident that every man, woman and child in Canada will be able to obtain them without any difficulty or delay whatever.

The launching of this nation-wide undertaking was announced in English by the Hon. J. L. Baldwin, Minister of Finance, and in French by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, over a coast to coast radio network last Sunday night, and full information can be obtained from all postmasters and banks.

Big Reduction in Canada Estimates

Ottawa.—Estimates tabled by Hon. J. L. Baldwin, finance minister, in the Commons and covering all requirements except the war, totalled $448,000,805 and the minister announced he did not expect any supplementary of special estimates.

Comparing these estimates with the main, supplementary and special estimates last year, there is a reduction of $77,217,785.

"Public works will have to take a holiday," the minister explained. Not only will there be no new public works but many works already started will be discontinued.

The minister expressed the hope in a press interview that the public would readily put up with the inconvenience in these critical times resulting from dropping public work projects.

The only national defence expenditures provided for are those for purposes "other than war." These estimates amount to $276,476, compared with $63,000,000 in the 1939-40 estimates.

Decreases in the estimates were recorded in all but seven of the government branches for which appropriations are made. These were civil service commission, finance department, governor-general and lieutenant-governors, national revenue, post office, prime minister's office and privy council.

The estimates do not include the war effort expenditures which are covered by the $700,000,000 resolution now before the house. Additional expenditures on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is also taken out of the war vote.

The entire cost of the department of munitions and supply is taken out of the war vote.

It is pleasing to note that every one of the local people who were attending university for the past term, have now received word of their success in the recent examinations there.

Fine Weather Aids Golf Tournament

The annual tournament held at the local links by the Golf Club on the 24th was greatly aided by the weather, and those who took part report a very enjoyable day.

Some played as many as 36 holes before the day was finished.

In the ladies' section Mrs. Nelson was the winner of the primary event with Mrs. Springett runner-up. The secondary event went to Mrs. Stevens with Mrs. Hannah runner-up.

Mr. L. Mitchell turned in some excellent scores in the men's event, ending up with the high honor, while Mr. Hammond was not far behind. In the secondary event, Mr. G. Clark won with Colin Hannah coming in next.

Tea, which was greatly enjoyed, was served by the ladies and the proceeds were turned over to the Red Cross.

Statements on "Fifth Column" Hit Tourists

Ottawa.—Possibility that "fifth column" activities were hurting Canada's promotion of the tourist industry, which provides a source of American dollars needed in the war effort, was hinted by Hon. G. D. Howe, transport minister, in an address over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation national network.

"Possible 'fifth column' activities in Canada are the subject of discussion at this time, and unfortunate statements are being made publicly," said Mr. Howe. "Suggestions are being published in our press, some of them from prominent public men, to the effect that visitors should be subjected to military examination."

"These statements are being reprinted in United States newspapers, and are doing much to nullify the activity of our tourist agencies in promoting a maximum influx of tourists. I ask you to maintain a sense of proportion in these difficult times."

"Our immigration authorities are well able to protect us against the entry of those who may become a source of danger."

Mr. Hedley Abbott, who has resigned from the teaching staff at the public school, plans to leave for Toronto at the end of this week. We understand that he is joining the forces. He will be accompanied by Mr. H. Lison of Battle Heights school.

Circulars have been received by the local branch of the Red Cross which show the urgent need of funds and supplies to carry on this important work, and also the need for workers to complete hospital supplies, which should be shipped immediately.

The executive of the Wainwright branch will be grateful for any donations of blankets, either new or used, to help in this cause.

Miss Willetta Armstrong returned to her teaching duties at Camrose last week end, after a stay of a couple of weeks in town. Mrs. Armstrong and Brock motored over with her.

Fingerprint Aliens In United States

Washington.—Legislation requiring registration and fingerprinting of all aliens in the United States was approved by a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

Senator Tom Connally (Dem., Texas) said the requirement was added to a "comprehensive bill already passed by the house and designed to protect our armed forces from subversive activities and our people from fifth column or similar groups."

The House of Representatives bill merely provided for fingerprinting of all immigrants entering or visiting the United States but Senators agreed to expand this to require registration and fingerprinting at port of entry of all aliens already in the country.

Another section of the legislation would set up penalties of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine for any subversive attempts upon the armed forces of the United States.

Lite of Coastal Marines Portrayed

A melodrama of the marines, "Coast Guard" presents a vivid picture of the life of the service men who keep vigil along the shores of our country. The picture sings out two boys who desire the same girl, but the young lady chooses the Beau Brummel of the barracks for better or worse, and for a while it looks as if she is to get the last name result.

The girl, who becomes fed-up, on the daily ritual of keeping the evening meal warm for her tardy spouse's return, walks out on him and goes home to her granddaddy. When news reaches her that her rejected suitor is lost in the arctic snows, she puts her petty peevish in the background.

The storm sequences wherein the coastal marines do their daily good deed are thrilling and exciting and hold the audience in deep suspense right through to the finale.

"Coast Guard" shows at the local theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

The Canadian War Effort

A weekly review of developments along the home front.
(As released by Canadian censor)

Economy and Finance.

It is anticipated that the organization for the promotion of War Savings Certificates will be completed shortly. These certificates are designed to permit Canadians, who recognize the need of thrift in the war effort, to loan their savings to the Government in small amounts. Such contributions to the war finance will be supplemental to other wartime financing which has been and will be come necessary. W. H. Somerville, of Waterloo, Ont., and de Gasse Beaulieu, of Montreal, have been nominated as joint chairmen of the National War Savings Committee. Their task will be to organize a national committee, on a voluntary basis, in the words of Hon. J. L. Ralston, the Minister of Finance. "To make the sale of war savings certificates a whole-hearted Canadian effort by a forceful campaign throughout Canada."

Income tax collections so far in the new tax-year are $14,000,000 in advance of those of the corresponding period in 1939, according to Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Revenue. Almost $30,000,000 of the total sum flowed in during one day, May 2, the largest single day's collection ever reported. It is far ahead of the previous record of $18,000,000.

Munitions and Supply

During the past week an average of 133 contracts per day have been placed by the Department of Munitions and Supply. A list of 802 new contracts for supplies to the value of $2,716,964 was made public for the week ending May 8. Contracts included clothing and accessories, bar rack stores, medical and dental supplies, mechanical transport, aircraft supplies, shipbuilding, fuel, tools and mechanical equipment, lumber and hardware.

Trade and Commerce

An agreement by British newspaper interests to purchase 200,000 tons of Canadian newspaper during the next year has been reached. This is due, in part, to the cutting off of Scandinavian supplies by war developments and will enlarge the Canadian output materially.

The British Food Ministry also has agreed to buy Canadian fresh and storage eggs. Exporters of these supplies are required to make their contracts direct with the Food Ministry through their agents in Great Britain.

Because of the disruption of markets by war, the Canadian government will assist the lobster fishing industry. A board has been set up to purchase 55,000 cases from the canneries, at a guaranteed price. This represents that portion of the output which normally finds a market in war-bound countries.

Engaged in the solution of supply problems and co-ordinating the flow of essential raw materials, the Plant Survey Division, of the Department of Munitions and Supply, has completed its 1900th survey. These surveys involved 2,500 visits to individual arms by technical assistants of the Division. They have enabled information respecting the potential manufacturing capacity of the Dominion to be charted and defined.

With the Forces.

Canada will soon welcome the first contingent of airmen from Australia and New Zealand, who are coming here for advanced training, in accordance with the provisions of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. In this connection Air Minister J. V. Fairbairn, of Australia, announced during the past week that 2,000 Australian pilots and 1,500 air observers and gunners will be called up before the year end. The first Australian air crew personnel will arrive for advanced training in Canada about August. The Air Minister announced that thereafter a fresh group would reach Canada every month.

Meanwhile the organization of the Empire Training Plan proceeds at a fast pace throughout Canada, even ahead of its pre-arranged schedule, ahead of its pre-arranged schedule, according to J. S. Duncan, Acting Director for Air Services.

Training operations in Western Canada advanced one stage further towards the ultimate objective with the appointment of Group Captain Leigh Forbes Stevenson to the command of No. 4 Training Command, with headquarters in Regina, Sask.

Group Captain Forbes is proceeding with the organization for the administration of training schools and depots in southwestern Saskatchewan.

wan, Alberta and British Columbia. There will be 23 units under his jurisdiction. Group Captain Forbes proceeds to Regina from Toronto, where he was in command of No. 1 Training Command during the absence in England of Air Commodore A. A. L. Cuffe. Before that he was Commanding Officer of the R.C.A.F. Station at Camp Borden.

The Department of National Defence also announces the appointment of Wing Commander George Roberts Howsam, M.C., as Senior Air Staff Officer for No. 4 Training Command. Wing Commander Howsam has a brilliant record of service with the Royal Air Force in France during the Great War. He has been intimately concerned with the R.C.A.F. since in various capacities, acquiring close knowledge of flying conditions in the West after spending two years at the High River Station and at Winnipeg. Wing Commander Howsam was Director of Training at Air Force Headquarters for two years and was in command of No. 2 Army Co-operation Squadron, personnel of which went to England with No. 110, the first R.C.A.F. unit ever to proceed overseas on active service.

The Canadian Flying Clubs Association, which will play an important role in the training of pilots in connection with the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, has signified its intention of giving preference to Canadians in selecting several hundred civilian pilots needed as instructors for the 26 elementary flying schools being established. First choice will be pilots holding transport department licenses as instructors. Second choice will be pilots with at least 100 hours flying experience who are prepared to take a refresher course of 25 hours.

Flying Clubs will be given a special charter by the Dominion to contract with the government for the operation of elementary schools. Pilots selected as instructors will retain their civilian status.

The Department of National Defence announced that Major M. A. Seymour, of St. Catharines, President of the Canadian Flying Clubs Association, had been awarded the "Trans-Canada Trophy" for 1939, in recognition of the outstanding leadership he gave to the flying clubs of Canada. He elevated the flying clubs to a position where they could render a great service to Canada.

On Sale Now! WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

A direct obligation of the Dominion of Canada

"Since the momentous day of last September, hundreds of thousands of Canadians have been asking themselves, 'What can I do to help win the war?'"

"One answer is, 'By saving.' Every man, woman and child in the Dominion can now make a direct and continuing contribution to Canada's war effort by saving not only his dollars, but also his nickels, dimes and quarters to buy Canada's War Savings Certificates."

MINISTER OF FINANCE

WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES are repayable in seven and one-half years. If you hold them to maturity, you will receive 3% on your money — your investment will increase by 25%. They are sold as follows:—

- For a $5 certificate you pay $4
- For a $10 certificate you pay $8
- For a $25 certificate you pay $20
- For a $50 certificate you pay $40
- For a $100 certificate you pay $80

TO FIT ANY BUDGET: You can take advantage of this patriotic and profitable savings plan, whether your savings are measured in dollars or in occasional nickels, dimes and quarters. Canada's War Savings Certificates are expressly designed to appeal to the man or woman of modest means who cannot afford to subscribe to war bonds of larger denominations, but who desires to do something tangible to assist the Country's war effort.

CHILDREN TOO: Even children can purchase War Savings Certificates, using their pennies, nickels and dimes to buy War Savings Stamps at 25¢ each. Sixteen of these stamps will buy one $5 Certificate.

DEVELOP THE SAVING HABIT: You can purchase as many War Savings Certificates as you like, up to $500 maturity value in any calendar year. Buy them when you wish — buy them often. Remember, systematic saving is successful saving — and your Country needs you money.

REGISTRATION: Each War Savings Certificate is registered in one name only, and is not transferable.

REDEMPTION: War Savings Certificates cannot be called for redemption by the Government prior to their date of maturity. The owner, however, has the option, after six months, of redeeming his certificates for cash at fixed redemption values. In urgent cases, advance notice will be waived.

NEED TO BE REMINDED

As for the non-advertising merchant—especially the kind who says, "I don't need to advertise; everyone knows I'm here"—an item of a recent issue of a prominent weekly publication provides a good object lesson. It's the story of a farmer who was driving along a highway at a fair rate of speed, with a truck following behind. Suddenly, without extending a warning hand, the farmer turned into a side road. Result: the truck collided with the farmer's car and wrecked it.

"Why didn't you give me a signal that you were going to turn?" demanded the irate truck driver. "Haven't you driven long enough to know that you ought to let people know what you are going to do?"

"Why?" said the farmer in a surprised tone. "I thought everybody knew that I lived up that lane."—C.W.N.A. Bulletin.

AS LONG AS THERE ARE HOMES

So long as there are homes to which men turn
At close of day,
So long as there are homes where children are—

Where women stay,
If love and loyalty and faith be found,
Across these stills
A stricken nation can recover from its gravest ills.

So long as there are homes where men turn
And there is bread,
So long as there are homes where lamps are lit
And prayers are said;

Although a people falters through the dark
And nations grope,
With God Himself back of these little homes
We still have hope.

TO-DAY.....
People rely upon
THEIR BANKS

LONG past is the day when a hole in the ground was regarded as the best place in which to keep savings. Modern banking, evolved by man as a convenience to serve his developing needs, now provides the solution. As a depository for his money today the Canadian relies upon his bank. From the days of the old-world goldsmiths of centuries ago, to banks, bank notes and deposit accounts which meet so efficiently the greater business and human needs of today, is a far cry indeed. Canada's chartered banks, with their wide distribution of branches throughout the Dominion, now provide deposit and other banking services in line with up-to-date requirements and in keeping with Canada's position as an important factor in world trade.

"In war, as in peace, Canada's Chartered Banks maintain, uninterrupted, all their services to depositors, farmers, manufacturers, exporters—facilitating the nation's business—looking forward to peace with freedom as the only sure basis for enduring prosperity."

AMONG THE OLD-TIMERS

TEN YEARS AGO
 Mr. Tony Girard left on Monday for Montreal in charge of a carload of horses for the Eastern market.

On Thursday evening the management of the Elita theatre will present the first all-talkie movie, special up-to-date equipment having been installed to give patrons this latest invention in moving pictures.

Having accepted a position in the Dupre garage, Mr. Trimble has moved his family here from Edmonton to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Snell, of Heath, left recently for an extended holiday to be spent with friends and relatives in the east.

Col. E. A. Pitman, of Chauvin, was chosen as independent candidate to contest this seat in the next provincial election.

Mr. John J. Hines and Miss Astrid G. Peterson were married on Monday at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
 This week sees the fitting of the clock faces in the new memorial clock tower which has been erected by the local I.O.D.R.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fieldhouse rented the Brunker house on Fourth avenue for the summer.

Mr. Tom Sheridan has been appointed to handle the lions in the branding of buffaloes which are to be shipped north.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT
 During these anxious times the farmers of Western Canada are asking what they can best do to help to win a victory for Canada and her allies. Should, for instance, the farmers increase or reduce production of this or that agricultural commodity?

No one, it seems to me, can give any definite advice about any particular agricultural product, because no one can tell how long the war will last, or even which countries finally will become involved. There are certain things, however, worth bearing in mind. One is that armies, to fight a war, need vast quantities of foodstuffs, and no war has ever been lost because an army had too much food, but wars have at times been lost because soldiers did not have enough to eat.

HEATH
 Miss Robertson spent the week-end holiday at her home at Mannville. Heath Gospel Mission held a rally on Sunday, with special speakers being present for the services. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith on the birth of their son on Empire Day.

Heath school pupils enjoyed a hike on Empire Day.

Inspector Good and the district representatives expect to be present at open meetings at the local schools on dates as posted.

Dorothy Spornitz has been home from school during the past week with mumps.

GREENSHIELDS
 The next meeting of the Go-Gotters Club has been called for June 4th at the hall. Come out, members, and join the fun.

The C.N. painters are setting us all a good example this week by beautifying the depot with bright dashes of red, green and grey.

Quits a merry crowd enjoyed the dance Friday evening sponsored by the Sherlock Prairie Ramblers. The lucky ticket on the quilt, No. 74, was held by Miss Elma Gabrielson, of Arltland, Sask.

Miss Marion Haynes, of Saskatoon, is enjoying her annual holiday just now, having arrived home on Friday.

Garden Service

Vegetable Hints
 In wartime the growing of vegetables almost becomes a duty, but it can become a mighty pleasant kind of duty. There is wonderful satisfaction in a weed free garden of vigorous green vegetables. The owner takes a vast amount of pride in showing off to envious guests.

There is no secret. First essential of course, is good seed from a reputable Canadian seed house. Such firms know what will and will not grow in Canada and naturally they list only varieties that give satisfaction and that have been tested and approved by the Dominion Government.

With good seed the next thing to think about is the soil. As a rule a good rich loam, well exposed to sun makes the best vegetable garden, but it is not difficult to put other types of soil into shape. For both light sand and heavy clay generous applications of well rotted manure are desirable. The ground should be thoroughly spaded or plowed then raked or cultivated fairly fine.

Vegetables divide themselves into three main planting groups. The first will stand some frost. In this class will be the garden pea, carrots, beets, lettuce, radish, spinach and other hardy types listed for Canadian planting in Canadian seed catalogues. Second group is best not planted until all danger of frost is practically over. This includes beans, cabbage, potatoes and corn. Finally, there are the really tender things that originally hailed from Mexico and other southern points. These include the melon family, melons, cucumbers, pumpkins and squash, pepper plants, celery plants and tomato plants are also in the tender category.

Because one is advised not to plant certain types of vegetables before a certain time, this does not mean that all the seed should be sown at once. Indeed, with vegetables that are eaten in the green stage it is well to spread sowings over several weeks so that the season of harvest will be lengthened accordingly.

Most vegetables must be grown quickly if they are to be tender. Any check tends to make them woody. Frequent cultivation will keep them moving along even in dry weather and of course a soaking once a week if water is available. Another booster is commercial fertilizer, used carefully according to directions. This will fertilize along green things like lettuce, spinach and radish, and a handful underneath or close to each hill but not actually touching the plant is splendid for corn and potatoes.

Thin lawns badly mixed with weeds, almost invariably have poor soil underneath. Sometimes only a liberal application of commercial fertilizer or well rotted manure is necessary to restore rich greenness. Well fed grass will usually crowd out most weeds, though it will appreciate some help from the gardener who does not mind spending a few hours with a sharp, long or short handled weeder. Such weeding should be done when soil is fairly moist, otherwise whole chunks of grass will come out with each weed.

Where grass is very thin it will also be advisable to scratch lightly with a rake and sow some good seed. At the same time holes may be filled up gradually with good soil and sown with grass.

Where one has a summer cottage that will not be visited until June, the usual practice is to start practically all the garden in flat boxes at home. Later these are taken well grown out to the garden by the lake. Such things as lettuce, carrots, beets, onions, even corn, can all be started in boxes or pots and moved very carefully. It is a good idea to start in "indoor" boxes of special cardboard boxes and simply remove box without disturbing the roots when planting.

HEARTS WALKING

Mrs. Harry Pugh Smith

"I'm for another slice of cake," said Ted when the radio paused for station identification.

He led the way to the tea table to ward which Gordon was moving with Priscilla. Janet's cheeks burned.

"Hello, Janet," he murmured. "How are you?"

"I was never better," said Janet with her most brilliant smile.

Priscilla laughed unpleasantly. "Excuse it darling, if I seem to have monopolized your boy friend this afternoon."

"I don't mind," said Janet. The irritating point was that when she said things like that, nobody believed her. The crowd was convinced that Gordon was breaking Janet's heart.

"Run on and dance with Janet, Gordon," said Priscilla. "Didn't you always use to say she could dance rings around the rest of us?"

Janet had had a surfeit of that sort of innuendo since her friends came home. She and Gordon had never been formally engaged, but for several years it had been understood in the crowd that she was exclusively Gordon's girl.

"Sorry," said Janet, and to save her life she could not hear the acid out of her voice, "I don't believe I care to dance just now."

Priscilla gave a trill of malicious laughter. "Don't let me love's young dream has curdled?"

Gordon looked miserable and guilty and confused. "I didn't realize I was neglecting you, Janet," he stammered.

"It's quite all right," said Janet stiffly. "It may seem incredible, but there are compensations for being neglected."

Janet could see herself in the mirror above the gate, a tall, slender black-haired girl in a crisp blue linen dress with a white leather belt and glass buttons down the front.

"My teeth are on edge," she told Priscilla, "but believe it or not, it has nothing to do with sour grapes."

Priscilla shrugged her shoulders in a cynical manner and Gordon looked more conscience-stricken than ever.

"I guess you'll carry off the swimming cup as usual tomorrow, Janet," he said.

Janet shook her head. "You forget I have classes in the morning."

"But it's the club opening."

"Country clubs may come and go," said Janet lightly, "but summer school is something you don't cut even once, or you're dropped."

"Whatever made you enroll?" protested Priscilla. "It's dumb enough to go to a poly local college when everybody's away and there's nothing else to do."

Janet shrugged her shoulders. "The Normal has no social standing, Priscilla. You probably can't comprehend it, but people go there because they want to learn. It fits you for a paying job," Janet pointed out. "At least when I get my diploma in August I'm promised a place at Tracy's."

There was another awkward pause. "You're going into the store?" faltered Ted in a second feeble effort to retrieve the conversation.

"The store where your mother works?" Priscilla added with disagreeable emphasis.

"Yes," said Janet, her lips tightening.

Gordon Key was his widowed mother's adored and only child. They were impoverished gentilefolk. By the exercise of every economy and subterfuge Dora Key managed, however, to keep up a front.

"I'm afraid your mother thinks I'm committing social suicide," Janet said to Gordon with a laugh that was like a gauntlet flung down between them.

He flushed. "The matter has certain bred-in-the-bone prejudices," Priscilla laughed. "You sound as if you had inherited them."

"I don't believe any woman can buck the world without coarsening herself," he admitted doggedly.

He's quoting his mother, thought Janet.

It was then she became aware of the man standing in the doorway. She did not know how long he had been there, or how much he had overheard. He had a lean, controlled face and eyes which were not easily read. His heavy black eyebrows nearly met above his nose, which was a little hooked as if it had been broken. His skin was swarthy and he was tall and unusually broad across the shoulders, but his waist and hips were narrow. He had a small white scar at the side of his mouth, and was dark enough to be an Italian, but his eyes were Irish blue.

"You asked me to look you up if I came down to wa," he said to Priscilla.

"Tony Ryan?" Priscilla gave a little squeal of delight and ran across the room. She took both his hands in hers and drew him over the threshold.

"It's Tony Ryan, everybody!" exclaimed Priscilla, as if she expected the news to overcome them.

"What are we supposed to do?" Janet asked Ted. "Fall down and rove, or kiss his hand?"

Ted did not answer. He and the others were crowding in a body about the great Tony Ryan who at eighteen had been lightweight champion of America, and at twenty-two had realized that the big money in the sporting world is in the promotion and, and who at twenty-seven was said to be ready to retire with something over a half million dollars.

"You said if you ever came off down here, you'd look me up," cried Priscilla's delirious cry. "But I simply didn't believe you'd come. I mean I couldn't imagine that anything so perfectly gorgeous might happen."

"Why shouldn't I drop into Bay City and look the old town over?" he demanded lastly.

"After all," he went on softly, "my mother used to take in washing for all the best families in Bay City. When I delivered clothes at back doors I promised myself I wouldn't be poor white trash from the wrong side of the branch forever!" he said. "Funny, isn't it?" As a ragged little tyke in a shabby inebriate town I made up my mind that some day I'd walk in at the front door of a house like this and be treated as visiting royalty."

The corners of his wide mouth curled the mockery of his Irish eyes deepened. As if he were sneering at them, thought Janet.

"Darling," cried Priscilla, giving him a languishing glance, "it's too romantic, from rags to riches practically overnight!"

Tony Ryan grinned. "All in the good old American tradition."

Janet turned away abruptly. A great many things she had been taught to believe apparently were not true. She had not known, for instance, how decisive money is in the adult world. For lack of it she was being penalized, but a Tony Ryan could stride roughshod into society because he had the admission price.

"Going so soon, Janet?" asked Priscilla carelessly.

"Yes," said Janet. "I'm using Jim's car and I must pick him up. He's over at the club snubbing for Jock McCall, you know."

She was surprised when she reached the battered silver which her brother Jim had bought of a used car dealer, to find that Gordon had followed her outside.

"I'm awfully sorry," he stammered. "I told you it's quite all right," said Janet. "I wouldn't have embarrassed you by coming over this afternoon if I had known you had a tea engagement with Priscilla. I didn't mean to come, only I met Norma and she said the whole crowd was here. She wouldn't let me off."

Gordon was perspiring. "It's not that," he said. "It's tonight."

On Guard Duty

All out in his brand new uniform and khaki cap, Mayor David Chisholm of Windsor, Ontario, marched down his post in a smart and military manner at the barracks of the Essex Scottish regiment. His rank of major held the rank of a brigadier, from which there can be no demotion.

Heads New Force

General Sir Walter Kyrle has been chosen to command the newly-formed British anti-parasitist army announced by War Minister Anthony Eden shortly after he took over the war office in the Churchill government.

"Tonight?"

"Mother didn't know I was taking you to the dance. She couldn't have known, or she wouldn't have accepted Priscilla's dinner bid."

"I'll ask Jim to bring you, Janet."

"Please don't," she requested sharply.

"You're such a peach!"

"Yes?" murmured Janet, and drove away.

That same afternoon Jim Phillips looked up from the tournament schedule he was making out for the next day to discover Ruth Hetchcott smiling at him from the doorway of the caddy room at the Country Club.

"I haven't a partner, Jim. It looks as if you'll have to go around with me," she said ruefully.

Jim laughed. "I can't think of any way I'd rather spend a balmy June afternoon than golfing with a Hetchcott."

Ruth smiled. "But then you're always been right partial to Dad and me."

Oh, Boy!
MY NEW
C.C.M.
IS SUPER

EVERY BOY knows that a C.C.M. is "super" even before he gets one because all his pals tell him. This is proved beyond doubt when he becomes the proud possessor of his very own C.C.M. and exclaims "Oh, Boy! My new C.C.M. is super."

And is it any wonder that most boys and girls feel this way about C.C.M. bicycles when they provide such smooth, comfortable, easy-running cycling year after year. Such performance is the result of careful machining and fitting of every component in the three fast-moving parts of a C.C.M. Bicycle—the front Hub—the Main Sprocket-hanger and the C.C.M. Coaster Brake. Then, too, only the best and most suitable steels are used in making C.C.M. bicycles and all moving parts are specially treated and hardened to give longer life.

C.C.M. Bicycles are made in a variety of models from the light Road-Racer illustrated to such models as the "Delivery" which has extra reinforcements to carry heavy loads.

Boys! the time is ripe for you to get a bicycle so go to your nearest C.C.M. dealer now and select the model which suits you best. Then you will say "Oh, Boy! My new C.C.M. is super."

DAILY SUMMER DISHES

There is nothing like the approach of summer to turn our thoughts to lighter things, particularly our thoughts of food. No more of the heavy, nourishing dishes which we need during the winter to provide heat and energy for our bodies. Now is the time for tasty, cool-looking dishes to grace outdoor meals or side-porch suppers. Desserts and salads which can be made without too much work and yet look as though hours had been spent in their preparation come first on the list of early summer menus.

Quick-setting jelly powder can be the base for dozens of such enticing dishes as, for example, these recipes for dessert and moulded salad.

Pineapple Banana Dessert
1 package raspberry flavored quick-setting jelly powder
1 cup warm water
1 can canned pineapple juice
1 banana, sliced

Dissolve jelly powder in warm water. Add pineapple juice. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in banana. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with whipped cream. Serves 4.

Creamy Pimiento Ring
1 package lemon quick-setting jelly powder
1½ cups warm water
1½ teaspoons vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon scraped onion
½ cup mayonnaise
½ grated Canadian cheese

1-2 cup chopped pimientos
Dissolve jelly powder in warm water. Add vinegar and salt. Chill. Add milk, paprika and onion to mayonnaise and beat with rotary egg beater to blend. When jelly powder is slightly thickened, beat in mayonnaise mixture. Then fold in cheese and pimientos. Turn into ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with crisp water cress and serve with dressed cucumbers or chilled ripe tomatoes. Serves 6.

Dandelion Greens
2 pounds dandelion greens
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon butter
Dandelions should be used before they blossom, as they become bitter after that time. Cut off the roots, pick the greens over carefully, and wash them well in several waters. Place them in a kettle, add a little boiling water, and boil until tender. Salt the water just before cooking is completed. When done, lift them into a colander, press them to drain off all the water, and chop. Add butter, salt and pepper.

Beet Greens
Carefully wash and clean young beets, leaving roots and tops together. Put them into a kettle with very little boiling water and allow them to cook until just tender. Salt the water just before cooking is completed. Drain as dry as possible. In a colander, chop, if desired. Serve hot with vinegar or with butter, salt and pepper.

Cress and Dandelion Salad
1 cup water cress
1 cup dandelion greens
6 thin slices raw onion
French dressing
The dandelion should be fresh and young. Wash the leaves carefully and drain well. Arrange them in a salad bowl with the cress. Add the slices of onion and pour the French dressing over all.

Fruit Paste
Cook for 20 minutes, stirring often:
¾ cup ground whole oranges
¼ cup orange juice
2½ cups fruit pulp with its juice: apple sauce, stewed apricots or peaches (dried or fresh)
Add and cook 15 to 20 minutes longer, stirring constantly:
½ cup liquid pectin
½ cup light corn syrup
2 cups sugar
When mixture is consistency of a thick preserve pour 1 inch deep into a shallow pan. When cold cut into desired shapes. Roll in powdered sugar.

MANY RECIPES IN ONE
Here is a recipe that should be a welcome addition to your collection of recipes — because from it you can serve muffins as often as you wish, and vary them regularly:

Variety Muffins
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons double acting-baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar and salt, and sift again. Combine egg, milk, and shortening. Add to flour, beat only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425° F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Makes 12 muffins.

Not Muffins—Use above recipe, adding one-half cup broken nut meats to the sifted flour mixture.
Currant Muffins—Use currants in place of nut meats.
Prune Muffins—Use 2-3 cup finely cut prunes in place of nut meats.
Surprise Muffins—Drop a scant teaspoon of currant jelly on each muffin before baking.

Picture above is Mrs. Lamb, Edmonton, Alberta, snapped in CICA studios after receiving her cheque for $142.00, which she won by answering a single question on the radio broadcast, "Treasure Trail", heard from CICA, Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. The station presented her with the bouquet of spring flowers. Prize-winning contestants are numerous in Edmonton—Mrs. R. E. Burrell, resident of the Henderson Block, winning on two separate programs in one night! Her first prize was obtained on the "Treasure Trail" broadcast and the second, about an hour later, on "What Do You Know About Alberta?"

British Liners Carry On

By "Spithead"

The vast sea transport of Great Britain, with the exception of the first few weeks of the war, when services were partially suspended, for rearrangement into convoys safe from attack by Germany's submarines, has carried on successfully with regular sailings. Every sea in the world has been traversed with the minimum interference. The Allied navies have been solely responsible for this happy and efficient state of affairs, which has been a great commercial satisfaction to all neutral nations.

The only seriously restricted area for British shipping has been the North Sea, where German submarines have concentrated their attack and sunk ships without warning, irrespective of nationality, and also laid floating and magnetic mines, both illegal weapons and contrary to international agreement on maritime warfare. But even the North Sea, until the invasion of Denmark and Norway, was mastered by British ships sailing in adequately protected convoys. In which 99 per cent of shipping reached chartered destinations.

All the big shipping lines, in spite of having to divert a percentage of their tonnage to the government for transporting hundreds of thousands of troops, thousands of tons of arms, equipment and stores, have managed to carry on the nation's export trade even progressively to increase it. This has been accomplished through the wholehearted co-operation of British seamen who were resolutely determined to meet and overcome every enemy threat to drive them from the high seas.

Big passenger-carrying liners, except for altering date and time of sailing in war-time emergency, have made regular sailings on their accustomed voyages at nearly normal intervals, and have not been afraid to advertise the fact in the Press. Ships have made neighbours of the nations, and will continue to do so in spite of war. No people have done more than the British to bring about world neighborliness through their ships. A race of seamen, they have turned the world into a Venice, reducing seas and oceans into water-streets which have become the highways of friendly peoples.

Another reason why British shipping companies turned every war-time obstacle into an opportunity and carried on is because they had contracted obligations commercially and economically with every other nation in the world, both in the transportation of passengers and merchandise. Shipping companies were determined to fulfill their obligations, thus allowing neutral countries to experience as little inconvenience and loss as possible through the war.

Furthermore, every neutral nation was bound to experience some inevitable reaction from the war which, if allowed to go unchecked, would not only have caused serious loss, but would probably have involved neutrals actively in the struggle. British shipping companies by carrying on have tended to isolate the European conflict, and to allow neutral countries in the rest of the world to continue their respective trades unhampered and with profit to themselves. Indeed, the only interference with a normal flow of trade to neutral countries has been the ruthlessness of the German naval command in issuing orders to sink all neutral ships at sight by submarine or by stranding mines in legitimate channels of trade.

Capitulating to a threat of frightfulness is contrary to the psychology of British seamen. It constitutes a challenge to their movements on the high seas which, for thousands of years, have been their home, and developed a breed of seafaring men who are undaunted and unafraid. Besides, British seamen know the nations of the world are interdependent on each other's services, and cannot live without each other, and sea transport in our modern world has increasingly become the very life blood of international existence. This is another reason which prompted British shipping companies to carry on as normal a service as possible after war was declared.

The Cunard-White Star Company is running regular war-time sailings in the Atlantic ferry service, not with the big crack liners for obvious reasons, but with smaller craft which are fast and comfortable. Regular sailings of fast passenger and cargo liners belonging to the famous Canadian Pacific Company also make transatlantic voyages to Canada at regular intervals, and both these lines are also carrying passengers for New Zealand, Australia and the Far East, who travel by train across the American Continent and re-embark on the Pacific Coast to save time.

The famous Royal Mail Line links Great Britain weekly with Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and the West Indies; the Blue Star Line is running regular express services to South America and thence across the Pacific to Australia. Every part of the African continent is served by our steamship lines. The Elder Dempster Line, which has done so much to develop West Africa, continues its regular sailings, whilst the Union Castle Line's crack ships serve South, East and West Africa with weekly sailings of mail boats voyaging to Cape Town and up the East Coast to their terminal port of Durban, whilst the intermediate services call at the Mediterranean, Egyptian and East African ports.

India and the Far East are well served by the Peninsula and Orient and the British India Companies' Lines, which whilst serving Mediterranean ports take passengers and freight through the Suez Canal to all the major ports around the coast of India, from Bombay to Calcutta, including Ceylon, thence to Burma, the Malay States, on to China and Japan. There is also a regular service to India, Ceylon and the East, by the Ellerman Lines, and Bibby Line.

There is no part of the globe served by British liners in peacetime which has not been catered for under war conditions. After eight months of war British ships, still serving neighboring neutral nations, link the countries of the world.

After washing cut glass in hot soap suds, leave them to drain. When they are dry, use a Turkish towel to polish them. The Turkish towel gets into the cuts readily and leaves no lint on the glass.

Two-thirds boracic acid and one-third powdered sugar sprinkled on shelves and baseboards will kill roaches and water bugs. The combination is poisonous to them.
